

Vatican conference seeks 'solutions to food security caused by conflict'

The Pontifical Academy of Sciences hosts an international conference on the food and humanitarian crises, with participants voicing their appreciation for Pope Francis' support for people affected by various ongoing conflicts and political instability.

